2. Brand Identity

The JCI Constitution states:

This international association of Junior Chambers shall be known as JCI (Junior Chamber International, Inc.). The use of the name shall be limited to National Organization Members, Local Organization Members and Individual Members of this association whose affiliation is duly recorded, and groups of NOMs which have been formally recognized under the provisions of Policy 3-11. All NOMs applying for affiliation or reaffiliation are required to use only the word "JCI" followed by the name of the nation or local community in their names and those of their LOMs. The right to use the name shall be automatically and forthwith forfeited on termination of any member's affiliation or any such group's formal recognition.

The use of the naming system outlined in the Constitution is necessary to properly apply the JCI Corporate Identity guidelines as stated in this document.

The official Spanish translation shall be:
Cámara Júnior Internacional

The official French translation shall be either of the following:
Jeune Chambre Economique
Jeune Chambre Internationale

2.1. The JCI Logo

JCI Logo

There is one format of the JCI logo for use on the international level. The use of this logo without the name of the Local or National Organization is restricted to JCI international events and other official JCI materials. A JCI National or Local Organization must follow the guidelines for National and Local Organizations when creating their logo.

The JCI Logo should always be shown in Aqua on a White background, or White on a background consisting of one of the five approved JCI colors.

The JCI Corporate Mark is comprised of two trademarked elements:

1. The logotype
2. The JCI Shield

The JCI Mark is a registered trademark, and its use by any other organization is not allowed without expressed, written permission from the JCI Secretary General, Tel.: 1.636.449.3100, e-mail: identity@jci.cc

The primary purpose of a registered trademark is to prevent people from becoming confused about the source or origin of a product or service. Trademarks help people answer the question: “Who makes this product?” and “Who provides this service?”

As people become familiar with JCI’s Mark and the goods or services it represents, it can acquire a secondary meaning as an indicator of quality. Thus, established trademarks help people answer another question: “Is this product or service a good one?” For this reason, JCI trademarks are valuable assets worth of protection.

JCI’s corporate identity is an important asset, and managing it is an important responsibility. The objectives of JCI’s corporate identity are as follows:

To present a well-articulated, consistent and legally protected corporate identity;

To lay the foundation for recognition of and preference for JCI among customers, associates, vendors, investors and the general public; and

To demonstrate the essence of the JCI Brand.

Correct Formats of the JCI Logo

There is one format of the JCI Logo for use on the international level. The use of this logo without the name of the Local or National Organization is restricted to JCI international events and other official JCI materials. A JCI National or Local Organization must follow the guidelines for National and Local Organizations when creating their logo.

JCI Tagline

JCI’s tagline is “RISE UP” In 2025, JCI provides young individuals with a leadership development journey, and many of us grow along the journey. The theme deeply resonates with our commitment to our mission. Now I call upon your action to step up to “Be Better.” Celebrating JCI’s 110th anniversary in 2025, we will highlight our legacy and individuals, focus on data driven innovations, and propel further collaborations on the global scale, to continue serving as the foremost global network of young leaders.

2.2. The JCI Typeface

For continuity and simplicity, we use one typeface to form the JCI Logo and in our communications: Helvetica Neue. It has been chosen for its clarity, legibility and versatility. Helvetica Neue is not the same font as Helvetica. The three varieties of the Helvetica Neue font necessary to create JCI National and Local Organization logos and the official business papers (letterhead, business cards, envelopes, etc) are listed below. All font styles in the Helvetica Neue font family are permitted for use on additional materials where no required template exists.

Where Helvetica Neue is unavailable, Arial must be used. However, it is preferable to use Helvetica Neue whenever possible. This applies to business documents, correspondence, promotional materials, displays, product labels, signs, Web pages and other media. However, the JCI Logo must always appear in Helvetica Neue. To obtain the Helvetica Neue font, please visit www.linotype.com or another website for purchasing fonts.

Rockwell Bold may be used as an accent to the Helvetica Neue family. Rockwell should only be used for large items such as headings and pull quotes.

National and Local Organization Logos

The usage guidelines are the same for Local and National Organizations.

Format

There is one approved logo layout for National and Local Organizations. Due to the fact that the JCI tagline, “Worldwide Federation of Young Leaders and Entrepreneurs,” has been phased out, National and Local Organizations are to use the new logo format, if they have not already. Organizations must eliminate the use of the tagline on any new materials produced. To have a logo created for an organization that does not include the tagline, or for additional information, e-mail identity@jci.cc.

The National or Local Organization name must be placed directly below the corporate mark. If a Local Organization wishes, they may include their National Organization’s name in parentheses after the name. The elements of the logo may not appear in any other layout or format in relation to each other.

Color

The text color displaying the local or national organization name should be JCI Gold. If you need this logo created for you, please contact identity@jci.cc

Fonts

The font Helvetica Neue Bold is required to create your National and Local Organization’s logos. Note that the actual Helvetica Neue Bold font must be used. The bold button that certain programs have is not suitable. Also note that Helvetica Neue and Helvetica are different fonts. It is best to have a graphic arts professional create your logo based on the samples available for download from the JCI website.

Alignment

The National and Local Organization logo has specific alignment and spacing guidelines (pictured below) to ensure consistency. The best way to ensure you have the proportions and layout correct is to use a sample or template. Samples and templates are available for download from the JCI website. Click on Downloads -> Corporate Identity

The National or Local Organization name should be centered between the J and the point of the shield. When the name is too long to fit, it may be left aligned with the J. Helvetica Neue 75 Bold

Name centered between start of the "J" and the point of the shield

When the name is too long to fit, name is left aligned with the "J"

When the name is so long it exceeds the TM letters, the name can be center aligned and include a second line of text

Minimum Space Requirements

The JCI Logo should always have a minimum clearance zone around it. This ensures clarity of communication and prevents the logo from becoming lost or crowded.

Examples of Incorrect Usage

- Do not stretch or distort the logo

- Do not change the proportions of any part of the mark in relation to the other parts

- Do not use color in any way other than as described in the guidelines

- Do not change the appearance, shape or layout of the logo

- Do not cut off any part of the logo

- Do not use the elements of the logo independently from one another

The JCI Color Palette

The JCI Primary Color Palette

The Primary color of JCI Aqua was chosen to give JCI a fresh feel while also reflecting the organization's heritage. The color is important to the overall branding and should be identified with JCI.

Use these Primary Colors most:

JCI National and Local Organization logos can also appear in JCI Aqua with their secondary color, or in white or black.

The JCI Secondary Color Palette

The Secondary Color Palette's main function is to provide a visual distinction for JCI National and Local Organizations. And as such, it may also be used in publications, PowerPoint presentations and websites relating to that country. However, they should never overpower the primary color, JCI Aqua.

Accessorize with these Secondary Colors:

These colors are for typography:

Our new color palette is full of diverse colors that work well together. To make sure that graphics, text and designs are clear and readable for all audiences, follow the guidelines below.

Background colors are represented by rectangles across the page, while acceptable foreground combinations are displayed as overlapping circles. When creating an image or design, choose from the color combinations below to ensure maximum readability.

2.3.6. Official JCI International Events

Logos for JCI Area Conferences and JCI World Congress

The organizing committees of official JCI international events may create a logo for their event. Event logos must follow the guidelines below and must be approved by JCI before use in any materials. After being finalized and approved by the JCI World Headquarters, the logo must not be changed, recreated, edited, retyped, distorted, stretched or altered in any way without permission. It is recommended to work closely with the JCI World Headquarters from the beginning to ensure an appropriate and professional logo.

JCI World Congress and JCI Area conference logos must:

- Incorporate the JCI Logo
- Include the full event title such as “JCI World Congress” or “JCI Asia-Pacific Conference”
- Include the year
- Include the city where the event will be held
- Include the country if the city is not listed as an international stand-alone city in the datelines entry of the AP Stylebook
- Use JCI Aqua (Pantone 2925)
- Be provided to JCI in vector format with all fonts converted to outlines
Be in a JCI official language, and must use English for JCI World Congress
- Use at least one version of Helvetica Neue font
- Include the word “candidate” on materials distributed before the location is voted upon by the General Assembly

It is recommended to:

- Keep the logo simple and graphic
- Use a limited color palette, preferably including one or more of the JCI secondary colors
- Carefully consider the colors to be used in the logo and their associations

- Carefully consider the culture and symbols of the host city and country. Use images that will widely be associated with the location.
- Consider both the internal and external audiences for the logo. It will be primarily aimed at JCI members in your region, however people from all over the world who do not know about JCI will also see the logo. Consider the impression the logo will make on them.
- Consider including the dates of the event in the logo
- For Area conferences and regional events, create the logo in the language that is the primary language of the country if it is a JCI official language.
- Create a logo that will be possible to show in white on a dark color background
- Consider how the logo will be used and how it will fit on banners, brochures, websites, etc.
- Consider text legibility at different sizes

Event logos may NOT include:

- Overt representations of a country's flag Raster images or photographs
- Abbreviations or acronyms
- Copyrighted or protected images, such as an official country seal or borrowed designs
- A slogan or theme within the logo
- Overt or noteworthy resemblance to another existing logo
- The JCI Logo is treated as text. The JCI Logo must be treated as an item separate from the official event name.
- Roman numerals (XI) or non-roman alphabets or scripts
- More than one format option. Multiple styles or formats of a logo often create confusion for the many people who are working to promote the event
- The logo of a partner or other organization incorporated into the event logo. Partner and sponsor logos should be shown separately in another space
- Imagery that is inappropriate for JCI

It is NOT recommended to:

- Use a font other than the versions in the Helvetica Neue font family. The Helvetica Neue family contains over 50 varieties, which provides ample opportunity for a unique combination. Other fonts may communicate a feeling or image that is not consistent with the JCI visual identity.
- Portray the borders or outline of a country, especially when border disputes or other political issues with neighboring countries are present
- Use imagery that could be viewed as religious, political or otherwise controversial

Web Addresses for JCI Area Conferences and JCI World Congress

JCI World Headquarters will provide a standard web address for JCI Area Conferences and JCI World Congress to maintain consistency.

National and Local Event Logos

While it is not required, Local or National Organizations may want to create a logo for a local or national event, such as a national convention. In these cases, it is not obligatory to get the logo approved by the JCI World Headquarters, however the design may be submitted to identity@jci.cc for feedback. Any local or national event must clearly state the official name and host of the event so as not to confuse the logo with a JCI international event. It is recommended to follow the guidelines stated here, however local languages may be used for local events.

Signage, Imagery, Promotion and Pins

When the JCI Logo is used for signage or banners, all logo, typography and color guidelines should be followed. For a full review of content and design by the JCI Secretary General, call +1.636.449.3100 or email: identity@jci.cc for approval.

Imagery Specifications

Photographs and illustrations make strong impressions on our audiences. They also play a significant role in conveying our Mission and purpose. You should select images that show the benefits members receive from being part of the JCI experience.

We should always be sensitive to our audiences and their cultures when selecting images for our communications.

When sharing these photos as award entries or project features, please submit unedited, high resolution images. This means photos that have not been modified with graphics, texts or filters.

It is preferred to receive photos in a resolution of 100-150 pixels per inch (ppi) – these display well on digital spaces. Sharing a photo from WhatsApp is not recommended as it reduces the quality of the image. Many JCI organizations have professional photographers that take excellent photos of events and projects.

Please ensure copyright usage for any photos you upload to the project gallery or online and include a credit if needed.

Joint Promotions

Occasionally, JCI enters into a partnership agreement to jointly promote a JCI product or service. Joint promotion initiatives require a full review of content and design by the JCI Secretary General, Tel.: 1.636.449.3100, Email: identity@jci.cc for approval.

Promotional Products

Promotional products may bear the JCI trademarked elements as long as the logo and tagline specifications are adhered to.

Official merchandise, clothing, awards, jewelry and other promotional applications must adhere to the logo specifications. Please contact the JCI Secretary General, Tel.: 1.636.449.3100, Email: identity@jci.cc for approval.

JCI Officers Pins

Official JCI Officers pins are only available from JCI World Headquarters. The JCI Officers pins must adhere to the following corporate identity guidelines:

- The position title is directly underneath the JCI logo with the final letter of the text justified with the bottom point of the JCI shield. The text is in

- If you have a foundation pin, this is also reserved for formal events. It can be worn on the right shoulder near the lapel next to your officer pin, or in the center of the chest underneath a man's bow tie. If you are also wearing a nametag, it can be worn on the left shoulder near the lapel.
- Wear your senate pin on the right shoulder near the lapel only when at a JCI Senate function in your home country.

3. External Publicity

3.1. Importance of Public Relations and Vehicles for Achieving It

A well-managed organization pays careful attention to goodwill, which has considerable value. If you are familiar with accounting practices, you will recall that “goodwill”, though intangible is put under the “asset” side of the corporate balance sheet. Your organization can accumulate these intangible assets by generating goodwill through effective public relations.

There are many approaches to generate publicity and effective public relations for an organization. In JC, it is not always feasible to spend a lot of money to buy advertising space or air time in the media to promote our projects and services. Indeed, there are various vehicles to achieve the same objectives without spending money. Here are just a few common approaches to think about:

- ❖ Press conferences
 - ❖ Press releases and press supplements
 - ❖ Media interviews
 - ❖ Inviting VIPs and Guest of Honor
 - ❖ Other PR tools, e.g. newsletter, brochures, souvenir programs, etc.

In this section of the Handbook, we will share with you some insights on managing public relations through some of these common approaches.

3.2. General Guidelines for Organizing Press Conferences

3.2.1. What are the objectives for holding press conferences?

The objective of holding a press conference is obvious to disseminate information on a specific topic that will be of interest to the general public. By holding a press conference, you want to achieve the following results:

- ❖ Attendance by reporters
- ❖ Coverage of your event in the media
- ❖ Interest generated from the public on your topic
- ❖ To achieve all the above objectives, it is important to understand that a press conference must be newsworthy in itself in the first place. If it is not newsworthy, we will generally encounter disappointment with the lack of interest or low attendance rate from the press. Worse still, you will be committing the act of wasting journalists’ time that may affect their interest or willingness to attend your future events. Therefore, before organizing a press conference, ask yourself the following questions:
 - ❖ Is the press conference really necessary?
 - ❖ Is the topic, which we want to discuss newsworthy?

❖ If not, can we try to add a “news angle” to our topic?

3.2.2. What to do if we decide to hold a press conference?

While there is no textbook formula on how to hold a press conference, the PDF formula will be helpful:

Preparation (P)

- i) Select the date, time, and venue for your press conference. A morning press conference around 10:00 am to 11:00 am is preferable, since it allows the reporters enough time to file their stories.
- ii) Ensure that you have sufficient manpower to plan and organize the press conference.
- iii) Decide who will speak during the conference. Usually, the speakers’ list will include the President, the National President (if available), and the Project Chairman and / or special guests relevant to the topic of the press conference.
- iv) Make sure the contents of the speakers do not overlap too much. The speakers should each have different and interesting things to say.
- v) Obtain an up-to-date media contact list.
- vi) Prepare an invitation letter and fax it to the press about two or three days before the press conference.
- vii) Call the press up 1 or 2 days before the press conference to follow-up and to remind them about the event. Make sure that the person who is making the call is familiar with the purpose and program content of the press conference. Very often, reporters will use this opportunity to screen whether or not to attend your event.
- viii) Prepare a press kit and its contents for distribution at the press conference. The press kit typically contains the following:
 - ❖ Program
 - ❖ Press release
 - ❖ Speeches
 - ❖ Background of the organization
 - ❖ Brochures / publications of the organizations
 - ❖ Name card of the Project Chairman or of other key posts

(Please remember to give plenty of advance notice if you wish to get a copy of the speech from the different speakers.)

- ix) Plan your budget carefully as this will ultimately reflect in your project financial statement.
 - ❖ Venue cost
 - ❖ Banner

 - ❖ Corsages
 - ❖ Cost of press kits
 - ❖ Badges
 - ❖ Coffee / tea / snacks if necessary

- x) Liaise with the hotel or venue about the set-up of the press conference.

- xi) Assign roles and responsibility to all OC members. In particular, make sure everyone understands what to do with press enquiries. A "line-to-take" questions and answers could be prepared for this purpose. Usually, these enquiries should be directed to the President or the Project Chairman.

- xii) It may be useful for some organizing committee members to think up some questions to ask during the "Question and Answer" session to avoid "awkward silence".

- xiii) Assign one or more organizing committee members to clip the newspapers the following day. (If there is an evening paper among the reporters who show up, make sure you clip the evening paper on the event day).

Don't (D)

Since a press conference is externally oriented and not an exercise on internal JC protocol, there is NO need to include "Recital of JCI Creed" in the program. Besides, the "Recognition of Guests" should be restricted to VIPs and key officers.

Follow-ups (F)

Normally, not every media organization will attend the press conference. For those that have not been present, it will be useful to fax or email them the press releases immediately after the press conference. The press actually prefers to receive emails with press releases and photos since it would facilitate their editing work.

Furthermore, keep your web site updated during the conference, releasing the text of announcement as soon as the rest of the press gets it. Post pictures (sound and video if feasible) with the text.

The purpose of doing this is to take advantage of every possible opportunity to promote your project. Even though a newspaper may not have sent a reporter to your press conference, they may eventually find the content to be interesting enough to include in their coverage the following day. NOM and many chapters have this experience before. It is always worth it to take just that one extra step.

3.3. General Guidelines on Writing Effective Press Releases

A press release is information that you wish to release to the press to generate publicity on your project or your organization. As this is a written document that represents the Chapter and its corporate image, it is essential that attention be given to ensure its accuracy and professional presentation.

In organizing a typical JC function, there are a few documents that you may find yourself having to compose:

- i) A press invitation to invite media attendance either at a press conference or on the event day of a function;
- ii) A press release on the event day of the function to report on details of the project;
- iii) A press kit, either for distribution at a press conference or at a function.

3.3.1. Press Invitations

This is a straightforward piece of document to announce a particular event, which welcomes press attendance. We suggest that the following information be included:

- i) Date, time and venue of the event;
- ii) What VIPs will present? This is very important and should be included in the first paragraph;
- iii) A brief description on the project;
- iv) A brief description about the organization;
- v) Name and phone number of contact person.

A press invitation should be sent by fax about two or three days before the event, to be followed up by a phone call one or two days prior to the event.

As the Chinese press constitutes the majority of the local media, it is recommended that you invest your time in writing a good press invitation in Chinese first. Naturally, you should write both Chinese and English version. However, if you have to choose to use your precious time in a cost-effective manner, your priority will be on writing the Chinese press invitation first and translate that version into English for the English-language press.

When you call the newspapers to follow-up, remember that editors and reporters in the dailies work an evening shift; therefore, the best time to call them will be in the evening. For the evening papers, television and radio stations, you can make your follow-up calls during the day.

Besides inviting press to the press conference, you may also invite guests for the event. (Please refer to Appendix 6.6 for Sample Guest Invitation Letter)

3.3.2. Press Releases

A press release is a more-detailed document than a press invitation, and requires certain techniques. Typically, the style of a press release is that of a straight news story. The author of the press release should try his or her best to imitate the style and format of journalistic language.

A press release should begin with a lead, expand on the lead, and proceed to present information in decreasing order of importance (i.e., most important thing first). There is a certain format, which most public relations professionals use in writing press releases:

Format

- ❖ Press releases are typically written on company letterhead.
- ❖ The date should always be specified.
- ❖ Always put a headline (title) in a press release. The title should be in all caps, centered and underlined.
- ❖ The press release should always include the name and phone number of the contact person.

Contents

- i) Always try to use journalistic style and language.
- ii) A press release is pre-written and uses past tense because it is trying to report an event as if it has already taken place.
- iii) Always start off immediately with the substance.

For example:

Correct The Junior Chamber International Hong Kong, organizer of the annual Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection since 1970, announced the awardees of this year's selection at a press conference today.

Incorrect The annual Ten Outstanding Young Persons Selection, organized by the Junior Chamber International Hong Kong, is one of the most prestigious awards that recognize outstanding achievements in Hong Kong's youngsters. After months of hard work and a meticulous selection process, ten awardees have been chosen as the 1998 outstanding young persons.

Why?

- ❖ The first example imitates journalistic language. The second one does not.
- ❖ The first example follows the rule of presenting most important information first. The second one does not.
- ❖ The first example is straightforward and presents an effective “lead” to the rest of the press release. The second one tries to give too much details and makes the mistakes of using unnecessary adjectives such as “hard work”, “meticulous”, “prestigious” etc. which is not journalistic language in an objective sense.

3.4. General Guidelines on Inviting Guest of Honor to our Functions

An invitation to an outside guest is not something to be taken light-heartedly. Proper protocol must be followed.

Invitations and Follow-ups

- ❖ Once you have identified your potential Guest of Honor, make an initial contact by the telephone first to check on the availability. Very often, you will be asked to send a letter and related materials first.
- ❖ Your invitations must be put on corporate letterheads and wordings should be precise and arranged in an appropriate manner.
- ❖ It is recommended that invitations to a Guest of Honor be sent three months prior to the event.
- ❖ About a week after the invitation has been sent out, follow-up by telephone to make sure that your invitation has been received.
- ❖ Enquire, or confirm the availability of the invited guest on the day of the function. Should there be a conflict in schedule, you should immediately consider whether to invite another guest of honor or whether you wish to change the date of your function to accommodate the schedule of your guest.
- ❖ A formal written confirmation should be sent subsequent to a verbal commitment. In addition to being a gesture of politeness, it will also give you the opportunity to confirm once again in writing the date, place and time of your event and any other requests such as messages, speeches, bio data etc. that you may need. If situation requires, reference materials about the Jaycees and your particular event should also be forwarded to the Guest of Honor so that he or she may have the relevant materials to compose a message or speech for your event.
- ❖ Always request a copy of the Guest of Honor’s bio data beforehand. Depending on the medium of language of the function, request the bio data in the appropriate language to avoid last-minute translation. This is especially troublesome when a lot of proper nouns such as names and titles have to be translated. The introduction of your Guest of Honor should be brief and include only relevant information. Very often, the introduction tends include information that are either unimportant or causes embarrassment to the Guest. (e.g. birth dates of the Guest)
- ❖ On the event day, the President must greet the Guest of Honor at the main entrance of the venue, e.g. the hotel lobby, before the scheduled time of his or her arrival.

- ❖ The Guest of Honor should be identified by a special corsage different from those worn by other guests, and be escorted throughout the event by either the President or the Chairman.
- ❖ A written note of appreciation should be sent to the Guest of Honor within a couple of days after the event, with photos taken during the event enclosed. (Please refer to Appendix 6.7 for Sample Appreciation Note)

Seating Arrangements

- ❖ For functions such as anniversary balls, the Guest of Honor should be seated at the center of the head table facing the stage / dance floor. The President should be seated on the left-hand side of the Guest of Honor.
- ❖ If relevant, the head table guest should be seated alternatively male / female according to positions.
- ❖ Chairman of the function should be seated at the opposite end of the table facing the Guest of Honor.
- ❖ Name stands and place cards should be prepared once seating arrangements have been confirmed.

3.5. Social Media Tips

3.5.1 Brand

3.5.2 Hashtag Usage Tips

Hashtags are used to track posts on social media platforms. When you are talking about a specific project or initiative, you use associated hashtags to allow others to see all similar posts. Original hashtags can be created by National and Local organizations to highlight a certain event or project. In general, hashtags should not be too long or too complicated.

As an organization, our official hashtag is: #JCI

- ❖ 較尊敬的用法是「鈞鑒」
- ❖ 記著稱謂語是用「:」,不是「,」
